19th Annual RTC Conference Presented in Tampa, February 2006

Challenges to Creating a Continuum

- Discrete program funding streams result in siloed
 - intake processes
 - data collection
 - assessment tools
 - outcome measures
 - performance standards
- Families experience barriers to service continuity
- Staff experience isolated practice
- Field research is constrained by silos

If you can't change the system, change the practice.

From Silos to Continuum: Opportunities Realized

- Nurture family partnerships within which services can be tailored to meet developmental, mental health and family support needs
- Improve application of sophisticated community knowledge and relationships
- Create a robust continuum within which family centered prevention and intervention models may be shaped and evaluated
- Build on synergies between GCI program staff and community colleagues to enhance capacity to hold families over time
- Advocate for system reform

19th Annual RTC Conference Presented in Tampa, February 2006

